Description:

This wonderfully architectural accent plant is a rare addition to the Touch of Class Plants range. It has thin, semi-soft leaves that are bluish-grey in colouration on the new growth and the mature leaves are burgundy, that can blush to orange in strong light. Usually a singular rosette that will slowly form a trunk over time, reaching a height of 1.2m, some specimens can have multiple trunks. The leaves are broad and weep gracefully with a short terminal spine. In summer mature plants will display cream bell shaped flowers. This is a great specimen for decorative pots, rockeries, and feature plants for the small or large garden
